

FAQ's - Frequently asked questions

What is the reason for transferring the alkyd business to Spolchemie?

This is an important step to focus on our key technologies such as acrylics, polyester polyols, polyurethanes and polyurethane dispersions.

Is DPR less committed now to the coatings and adhesives industry?

No, on the contrary. We have broadened our portfolio, i.e. in the area of plastic coatings and are in the process of introducing new products for the adhesives industry.

Will this change the level of support to our existing customers?

No, in fact in view of our new infrastructure and ongoing development we will supply more targeted technical support for our products.

What is going to happen to the other products we currently buy from you?

We continue to be committed to supply those products and our representatives will be contacting you to support our existing business and to develop new opportunities together with you.
